

NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES/HIPAA

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review it carefully.

I am committed to protecting health information about you by complying with all applicable federal and state privacy and confidentiality laws and regulations. These laws require that health information that identifies you is kept private and confidential. These laws also require that I give you this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to health information about you, and that I follow the terms of the notice that is currently in effect.

I. Uses and Disclosures WITH Your Authorization

Generally, I will use or disclose your health information only when you give your authorization in writing for me to do so. You may revoke your authorization except to the extent that I have already taken action upon the authorization. There are some exceptions and special rules that allow for uses and disclosures without your authorization or consent, which are set forth below.

II. Uses and Disclosures WITHOUT Your Authorization: All Protected Health Information

Even when you have not given your written authorization, I may use and disclose information under the circumstances listed below.

Treatment:

I may use or disclose health information about you for treatment purposes. Treatment includes diagnosis, treatment and other services, including discharge planning. For example, if I as your therapist decide to consult with another health care provider about your condition, I would be permitted to use and disclose your personal health information, which is otherwise confidential, in order to obtain assistance for diagnosis and/or treatment of your mental health condition. In addition, I may disclose your health information to coordinate individual and/or group therapy sessions for your treatment or to discuss information about treatment alternatives or other health-related benefits and services that are necessary or may be of interest to you.

Payment:

I may use and disclose health information about you so that the services you receive may be billed to and payment may be collected from you, an insurance company, or another third party. For example, if your health plan requests a copy of your health records, or a portion thereof, in order to determine whether or not payment is warranted under the terms of your policy or contract, I am permitted to use and disclose your personal health information. I may also tell your health plan about the service(s) you are going to receive to obtain prior approval/authorization or to determine whether your plan will cover the rest of the service(s).

Health Care Operations:

I may use or disclose health information about you for the purposes of health care operations that include internal administration and planning, and various activities that improve the quality and effectiveness of care. For example, if your health plan decides to audit me, Ina Lasmane, MA, LMFT, in order to review my competence and my performance, or to detect possible fraud or abuse, your health information may be used or disclosed for those purposes. At times, I may hire outside parties to help me carry out certain health care operations, such as computer maintenance performed by outside companies. If such outside parties will have any access to your health information when they are performing their jobs, I will require that they appropriately safeguard your information. This list of examples is for illustration only and is not an exclusive list of all of the potential uses and disclosures that may be made for health care operations.

Appointment Reminders, Treatment Alternatives, and Additional Services:

I may use or disclose health information about you to provide appointment reminders or to provide you with information about treatment alternatives or other health-related benefits and services that may be of interest to you. Be sure to let me know where and by what means (e.g., telephone, text, letter, email, fax) you may be contacted.

When Required By Law:

I may use or disclose health information about you as required by state or federal law. For example, I may disclose such information in the following circumstances:

1. If disclosure is compelled by a court pursuant to an order of that court.
2. If disclosure is compelled by a board, commission, or administrative agency for purposes of adjudication pursuant to its lawful authority.
3. If disclosure is compelled by a party to a proceeding before a court or administrative agency pursuant to a subpoena, subpoena duces tecum (e.g., a subpoena for mental health records), notice to appear, or any provision authorizing discovery in a proceeding before a court or administrative agency.
4. If disclosure is compelled by a board, commission, or administrative agency pursuant to an investigative subpoena issued pursuant to its lawful authority.
5. If disclosure is compelled by an arbitrator or arbitration panel, when arbitration is lawfully requested by either party, pursuant to a subpoena duces tecum (e.g., a subpoena for mental health records), or any other provision authorizing discovery in a proceeding before an arbitrator or arbitration panel.
6. If disclosure is compelled by a search warrant lawfully issued to a governmental law enforcement agency.
7. If disclosure is compelled by the patient or the patient's representative pursuant to Minnesota Statute 144.335 "Access to Health Records" or by corresponding federal statutes or regulations (e.g., the federal "Privacy Rule," which requires this Notice).

When Compelled or Permitted By Law in Certain Circumstances:

I may use or disclose health information about you when compelled or permitted by state or federal law in the following circumstances:

8. For Health or Safety of You or Others. I may disclose your health information to avert or lessen a serious threat of harm to you, to others, or to the public. I may be compelled to disclose your health information where you have made a specific threat of serious physical harm to another specific person or the public, and disclosure is otherwise required under statute and/or common law.
9. Child Abuse or Maltreatment of Vulnerable Adults. I may disclose your health information for the purpose of reporting child abuse and neglect, or the maltreatment of vulnerable adults, to public health authorities or other government authorities authorized by law to receive such reports.
10. Commission of a Crime. I may disclose your health information to the police or other law enforcement officials if you commit a crime on the premises or against my employee, agent, client, or me, Ina Lasmane, MA, LMFT, or threaten to commit such a crime.

13. Oversight Agencies. I may disclose your health information when disclosure is compelled or permitted to a health oversight agency for oversight activities authorized by law, including but not limited to, audits, criminal or civil investigations, or licensure or disciplinary actions. The Minnesota Board of Marriage and Family Therapy, who licenses marriage and family therapists, is an example of a health oversight agency.
14. Department of Health and Human Services. I may disclose your health information to the United States Department of Health and Human Services when disclosure is compelled or permitted to investigate or determine my compliance with privacy requirements under the federal regulations (the “Privacy Rule”).

III. Your Individual Rights

Right to Receive Confidential Communications:

Normally I will communicate with you through the phone number and address that you provide to me. If you desire that I use alternative methods of communication, you may provide a written request, and I will attempt to accommodate any reasonable request, for alternative means of communications or for alternative locations where you wish to receive our communications.

Right to Request Restrictions:

You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of health information about you, such as those necessary to carry out treatment, payment, or health care operations. This right to inspect and copy is not absolute – in other words, I am permitted to deny access for specified reasons. For instance, you do not have this right of access with respect to my “psychotherapy notes.” The term “psychotherapy notes” means notes recorded (in any medium) by a health care provider who is a mental health professional documenting or analyzing the contents of conversation during a private counseling session or a group, joint, or family counseling session and that are separated from the rest of the individual’s medical (includes mental health) record. The term excludes medication prescription and monitoring, counseling session start and stop times, the modalities and frequencies of treatment furnished, results of clinical tests, and any summary of the following items: diagnosis, functional status, the treatment plan, symptoms, prognosis, and progress to date.

Right to Amend Your Records:

You have the right to amend your health information in my records by making a request to do so in a writing that provides a reason to support the requested amendment. This right to amend is not absolute – in other words, I am permitted to deny the requested amendment for specified reasons. You also have the right, subject to limitations, to provide me with a written addendum with respect to any item or statement in your records that you believe to be incorrect or incomplete and to have the addendum become a part of your record. If your requested amendment to your records is accepted, a copy of your amendment will become a permanent part of our records. When I "amend," a record, I may append information to the original record, as opposed to physically removing or changing the original record.

Right to Receive an Accounting of Disclosures:

You have the right to receive an accounting from me of the disclosures of protected health information made by me, Ina Lasmane, MA, LMFT, in the six years prior to the date on which the accounting is requested. As with other rights, this right is not absolute. In other words, I am permitted to deny the request for specified reasons. For instance, I do not have to account for disclosures made in order to carry out your treatment, payment or health care operations. I also do not have to account for disclosures of protected health information that are made with your written authorization. If you request an accounting more than once during a twelve (12) month period, there will be a charge. You will be told the cost prior to the request being filled.
